

PROFESSIONAL MASTER'S PROGRAM OF TAX ACCOUNTING

This program provides graduate study concentrated in areas such as partnership, corporation, and shareholder taxation, the tax problems of employee retirement plans, and tax research. It also is a foundation for entrance into doctoral programs and other professional studies.

The Master of Accounting in Tax Accounting provides you with a foundation in advanced accounting skills. You'll learn how to communicate complex tax law to clients, perform appeals, identify potential liabilities on balance sheets, and more. Our curriculum is guided by faculty with professional accounting experience outside of the classroom as tax advisors, attorneys, and investigative agents.

The Master of Taxation program is an innovative graduate program, that reaches across the learning spectrum connecting skills and knowledge from each course, the program as a whole, and work-related activities. It is designed using an exclusive learning model to foster the development of unique strengths and qualities that distinctly position our graduates as valued professionals in this field.
